The 50th Chicago International Film Festival celebrates Isabelle Huppert with four of her favorite films. The illustrious French actress has blazed a trail in roles so diverse, from ingénue to comedienne to tragic heroine, that she's been dubbed "l'actrice caméléon."

THE PIANO TEACHER (2001)

La pianiste
Director: Michael Haneke

In one of the most courageous characterizations of her celebrated career, Huppert's 2001 Cannes award-winning performance effortlessly illuminates the darkest corners of the human psyche. 35 mm print courtesy of the Institut Français. French with subtitles. 125 min.

SUN, 10/12 at 4:00 PM

COMEDY OF POWER (2007)

L'ivresse du pouvoir
Director: Claude Chabrol

In this still timely and provocative 2007 film about corporate and political corruption, Huppert stars as Jeanne, a tenacious magistrate known as "the piranha" of the judiciary system, who puts her personal life on the back burner to pursue white-collar criminals. French with subtitles. 105 min.

WHITE MATERIAL (2009)

Director: Clair Denis

In an unnamed African country, Maria Vial (an electrifying Huppert) fights to save her family's coffee plantation in the face of rising civil unrest. 35 mm print courtesy of the Institut Français. French with subtitles. 100 min.

COPACABANA (2010)

Director: Marc Fitoussi

Huppert co-stars with her real-life daughter Lolita Chammah in this 2010 bittersweet comedy about an eccentric free-spirited mom at odds with her conventional by-the-book daughter. French with subtitles. 107 min.
